

Sunday 26th Aug '18

Different venue, different day!

Thrust
Ghoul
Good
Canary

The Library, Cowley Rd, Oxford.
Doors 8:00pm - Entry £4.00
£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>
www.gappytooth.com

Sunday 26th Aug '18

Different venue, different day!

Thrust
Ghoul
Good
Canary

The Library, Cowley Rd, Oxford.
Doors 8:00pm - Entry £4.00
£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>
www.gappytooth.com

Sunday 26th Aug '18

Different venue, different day!

Thrust
Ghoul
Good
Canary

The Library, Cowley Rd, Oxford.
Doors 8:00pm - Entry £4.00
£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>
www.gappytooth.com

Sunday 26th Aug '18

Different venue, different day!

Thrust
Ghoul
Good
Canary

The Library, Cowley Rd, Oxford.
Doors 8:00pm - Entry £4.00
£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>
www.gappytooth.com

Thrust

Thrust is the latest British incarnation of Californian eccentric songwriter Anton Barbeau, backed by members of Oxford psych-indie acts Charms Against the Evil Eye. Anton will need no introduction to many Oxonians, but just in case: "Think of Julian Cope's sprawling Krautrock and Zappa's ironic everything [...] Barbeau deserves a place alongside them." Logo.
<http://www.antonbarbeau.com>

Ghoul

A punk three-piece laced with gothic horror and with a penchant for macabre masks. Their latest LP is called Behind The Cobweb Veil, and features called "Dresden Bats" and "Roses Ae Dead...Violets Are Black" - once again we feel the song titles do the talking. Or should that be shouting? Or should that be cackling maniacally with a mouth full of fake fangs?
<http://www.ghoul.bandcamp.com>

Good Canary

Good Canary sings gallows-humour lyrics over jaunty piano riffs: she believes that, like a canary in a coalmine, a pop song can be an excellent warning. Think Tori Amos, The Knife, PJ Harvey, with extra quirky intimacy. "St Vincent and Regina Spektor vibes" BBC Introducing.
<http://www.facebook.com/goodcanary>

Thrust

Thrust is the latest British incarnation of Californian eccentric songwriter Anton Barbeau, backed by members of Oxford psych-indie acts Charms Against the Evil Eye. Anton will need no introduction to many Oxonians, but just in case: "Think of Julian Cope's sprawling Krautrock and Zappa's ironic everything [...] Barbeau deserves a place alongside them." Logo.
<http://www.antonbarbeau.com>

Ghoul

A punk three-piece laced with gothic horror and with a penchant for macabre masks. Their latest LP is called Behind The Cobweb Veil, and features called "Dresden Bats" and "Roses Ae Dead...Violets Are Black" - once again we feel the song titles do the talking. Or should that be shouting? Or should that be cackling maniacally with a mouth full of fake fangs?
<http://www.ghoul.bandcamp.com>

Good Canary

Good Canary sings gallows-humour lyrics over jaunty piano riffs: she believes that, like a canary in a coalmine, a pop song can be an excellent warning. Think Tori Amos, The Knife, PJ Harvey, with extra quirky intimacy. "St Vincent and Regina Spektor vibes" BBC Introducing.
<http://www.facebook.com/goodcanary>

Thrust

Thrust is the latest British incarnation of Californian eccentric songwriter Anton Barbeau, backed by members of Oxford psych-indie acts Charms Against the Evil Eye. Anton will need no introduction to many Oxonians, but just in case: "Think of Julian Cope's sprawling Krautrock and Zappa's ironic everything [...] Barbeau deserves a place alongside them." Logo.
<http://www.antonbarbeau.com>

Ghoul

A punk three-piece laced with gothic horror and with a penchant for macabre masks. Their latest LP is called Behind The Cobweb Veil, and features called "Dresden Bats" and "Roses Ae Dead...Violets Are Black" - once again we feel the song titles do the talking. Or should that be shouting? Or should that be cackling maniacally with a mouth full of fake fangs?
<http://www.ghoul.bandcamp.com>

Good Canary

Good Canary sings gallows-humour lyrics over jaunty piano riffs: she believes that, like a canary in a coalmine, a pop song can be an excellent warning. Think Tori Amos, The Knife, PJ Harvey, with extra quirky intimacy. "St Vincent and Regina Spektor vibes" BBC Introducing.
<http://www.facebook.com/goodcanary>

Thrust

Thrust is the latest British incarnation of Californian eccentric songwriter Anton Barbeau, backed by members of Oxford psych-indie acts Charms Against the Evil Eye. Anton will need no introduction to many Oxonians, but just in case: "Think of Julian Cope's sprawling Krautrock and Zappa's ironic everything [...] Barbeau deserves a place alongside them." Logo.
<http://www.antonbarbeau.com>

Ghoul

A punk three-piece laced with gothic horror and with a penchant for macabre masks. Their latest LP is called Behind The Cobweb Veil, and features called "Dresden Bats" and "Roses Ae Dead...Violets Are Black" - once again we feel the song titles do the talking. Or should that be shouting? Or should that be cackling maniacally with a mouth full of fake fangs?
<http://www.ghoul.bandcamp.com>

Good Canary

Good Canary sings gallows-humour lyrics over jaunty piano riffs: she believes that, like a canary in a coalmine, a pop song can be an excellent warning. Think Tori Amos, The Knife, PJ Harvey, with extra quirky intimacy. "St Vincent and Regina Spektor vibes" BBC Introducing.
<http://www.facebook.com/goodcanary>