

Saturday 29th Jun '19

Starbelly

Peter Cat

Emma
Hunter

The Wheatsheaf, Oxford.

Doors 8:15pm - Entry £4.50

£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>

www.gappytooth.com

Saturday 29th Jun '19

Starbelly

Peter Cat

Emma
Hunter

The Wheatsheaf, Oxford.

Doors 8:15pm - Entry £4.50

£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>

www.gappytooth.com

Saturday 29th Jun '19

Starbelly

Peter Cat

Emma
Hunter

The Wheatsheaf, Oxford.

Doors 8:15pm - Entry £4.50

£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>

www.gappytooth.com

Saturday 29th Jun '19

Starbelly

Peter Cat

Emma
Hunter

The Wheatsheaf, Oxford.

Doors 8:15pm - Entry £4.50

£3.50 in advance from <http://www.wegotickets.com/gappytooth>

www.gappytooth.com

Starbelly

Raucous red wine-fuelled glam-punk daydreamers Starbelly deliver chainsaw riffs and fairytales to a tribal drum carnivale, and will return to this gig after a wee hiatus with a bran new bass twanger. If you want serrated goth pop spellcasting – and we'd be disappointed in you if you didn't – then you'll want to check out their music - or, why not go to their website to see lots of pictures of stars drawn on, err, bellies...in retrospect we should have predicted that. <http://www.starbellyonline.com>

Peter Cat

Glasgow's Peter Cat join us on the last night of their tour with their outstanding quirkipop. "An alluring melange of Momus, The Callstore, Belle & Sebastian, Franz Ferdinand and some other alchemy which somehow makes it sound very now" Is This Music? "Catchy, bizarro indie-pop with a flash of glam and a wry, observant lyricism that'll have fans of Sparks, Talking Heads and Franz Ferdinand clambering over one another in excitement" Northern Transmissions <http://www.petercat.co.uk>

Emma Hunter

If Starbelly have been on hiatus, Emma Hunter has been in the wilderness for quite some time. You may have seen her on the Tooth stage fronting The Halcyons or AmberState, but now she's back, with a drummer, a loop pedal, a guitar and a clutch of new tunes. Fear not, though, the lovely, smoky jazz-nudged voice is stil present and correct. Do yourselves a favour and seek out the lovely Nick Cave bubblegum that is "Sun Blood". <http://www.emmahuntermusic.co.uk>

Starbelly

Raucous red wine-fuelled glam-punk daydreamers Starbelly deliver chainsaw riffs and fairytales to a tribal drum carnivale, and will return to this gig after a wee hiatus with a bran new bass twanger. If you want serrated goth pop spellcasting – and we'd be disappointed in you if you didn't – then you'll want to check out their music - or, why not go to their website to see lots of pictures of stars drawn on, err, bellies...in retrospect we should have predicted that. <http://www.starbellyonline.com>

Peter Cat

Glasgow's Peter Cat join us on the last night of their tour with their outstanding quirkipop. "An alluring melange of Momus, The Callstore, Belle & Sebastian, Franz Ferdinand and some other alchemy which somehow makes it sound very now" Is This Music? "Catchy, bizarro indie-pop with a flash of glam and a wry, observant lyricism that'll have fans of Sparks, Talking Heads and Franz Ferdinand clambering over one another in excitement" Northern Transmissions <http://www.petercat.co.uk>

Emma Hunter

If Starbelly have been on hiatus, Emma Hunter has been in the wilderness for quite some time. You may have seen her on the Tooth stage fronting The Halcyons or AmberState, but now she's back, with a drummer, a loop pedal, a guitar and a clutch of new tunes. Fear not, though, the lovely, smoky jazz-nudged voice is stil present and correct. Do yourselves a favour and seek out the lovely Nick Cave bubblegum that is "Sun Blood". <http://www.emmahuntermusic.co.uk>

Starbelly

Raucous red wine-fuelled glam-punk daydreamers Starbelly deliver chainsaw riffs and fairytales to a tribal drum carnivale, and will return to this gig after a wee hiatus with a bran new bass twanger. If you want serrated goth pop spellcasting – and we'd be disappointed in you if you didn't – then you'll want to check out their music - or, why not go to their website to see lots of pictures of stars drawn on, err, bellies...in retrospect we should have predicted that. <http://www.starbellyonline.com>

Peter Cat

Glasgow's Peter Cat join us on the last night of their tour with their outstanding quirkipop. "An alluring melange of Momus, The Callstore, Belle & Sebastian, Franz Ferdinand and some other alchemy which somehow makes it sound very now" Is This Music? "Catchy, bizarro indie-pop with a flash of glam and a wry, observant lyricism that'll have fans of Sparks, Talking Heads and Franz Ferdinand clambering over one another in excitement" Northern Transmissions <http://www.petercat.co.uk>

Emma Hunter

If Starbelly have been on hiatus, Emma Hunter has been in the wilderness for quite some time. You may have seen her on the Tooth stage fronting The Halcyons or AmberState, but now she's back, with a drummer, a loop pedal, a guitar and a clutch of new tunes. Fear not, though, the lovely, smoky jazz-nudged voice is stil present and correct. Do yourselves a favour and seek out the lovely Nick Cave bubblegum that is "Sun Blood". <http://www.emmahuntermusic.co.uk>

Starbelly

Raucous red wine-fuelled glam-punk daydreamers Starbelly deliver chainsaw riffs and fairytales to a tribal drum carnivale, and will return to this gig after a wee hiatus with a bran new bass twanger. If you want serrated goth pop spellcasting – and we'd be disappointed in you if you didn't – then you'll want to check out their music - or, why not go to their website to see lots of pictures of stars drawn on, err, bellies...in retrospect we should have predicted that. <http://www.starbellyonline.com>

Peter Cat

Glasgow's Peter Cat join us on the last night of their tour with their outstanding quirkipop. "An alluring melange of Momus, The Callstore, Belle & Sebastian, Franz Ferdinand and some other alchemy which somehow makes it sound very now" Is This Music? "Catchy, bizarro indie-pop with a flash of glam and a wry, observant lyricism that'll have fans of Sparks, Talking Heads and Franz Ferdinand clambering over one another in excitement" Northern Transmissions <http://www.petercat.co.uk>

Emma Hunter

If Starbelly have been on hiatus, Emma Hunter has been in the wilderness for quite some time. You may have seen her on the Tooth stage fronting The Halcyons or AmberState, but now she's back, with a drummer, a loop pedal, a guitar and a clutch of new tunes. Fear not, though, the lovely, smoky jazz-nudged voice is stil present and correct. Do yourselves a favour and seek out the lovely Nick Cave bubblegum that is "Sun Blood". <http://www.emmahuntermusic.co.uk>